

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

Based on the results of these studies that have been researched, the researcher concludes as follows:

The analysis results of the task in the form of a vlog in the speaking class given to English students at the State Islamic University of Sultan Maulana Hasanuddin Banten obtained good results. A Vlog is a suitable medium for use in today's conditions. The task of making this vlog can help students to practice directly using English. The results of questionnaires from students reinforce it. With this assignment, students can provide new things to explore their speaking skills further. Although some students have difficulty in its application, they can handle it themselves. It also has a good effect on the teachers. In this case, the teachers can assess the extent of students' speaking abilities.

B. Suggestion

1. For teacher

It will be better for the teacher to improve their speaking, especially using modern technologies. Media vlogs can be used, especially in learning speaking skills. This audiovisual media can attract the attention and concentration of students. Therefore, teachers should use creative and innovative learning media so that students are interested in following the learning process well and the classroom atmosphere becomes more fun and not monotonous.

2. For further researcher

Some suggestions that need to be considered for further researchers who are interested in research on vlog media as learning media are as follows:

- a. a. In research, further researchers are expected to prepare everything well to implement distance learning so that research can be carried out properly and run smoothly.
 - b. b. Further researchers are also expected to have the latest references and related learning media for speaking skills with more competent sources.
3. For students of the English education department

The researcher hopes that the second-semester students of the English education department will be more active and confident in English class, especially when the researcher applies Vlogging. Using this app, they are not afraid to explore their creativity and knowledge. In addition, their school facilities with Wi-Fi are useful to help the teaching and learning process. Thus, students should increase their confidence to improve their speaking ability.

4. For the readers

It is better to have confidence in speaking habits today. By this research the researcher hopes the result of this research can give many advantages to the reader, the teacher, the students, and the researcher herself.
