ABSTRACT

Muhammad Rifqi Khaerurahman (152301918). The Effectiveness of Using SWELL (Social Interactive Writing For English Language Learners) Method Toward Students' Writing Ability on Recount Text (A Quasi Experimental Research at Eighth Grade of SMPI Al-Ma'mur).

This research aims to investigate the influence of SWELL method toward students' writing ability on recount text at eight grade of SMPI Al-Ma'mur. The method used for this research is experimental with two classes, experimental and control class with using pre-test and post-test technique. This research involves 64 students as sample (32 students as control class and 32 students as experimental class at the eighth grade of SMPI Al-Ma'mur. The result of this research shows that score of t- test  $t_0 : t_t = 86 > 78$  in degree of significance 8% and  $t_0 : t_t 72,65 > 56$  in degree of significance 23% so that  $H_a$  (Alternative Hypothesis) of the result is accepted and  $H_0$  (Null Hypothesis) is rejected. It means that using SWELL Method has significance toward students' writing ability on recount text.
