

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

Based on the the findings of the research of the previous chapter, it shows the results of the interviews that student will get a good score when they learn with suit approaches and also match with their leaning style. It can be concluded that students' learning style related with their achievement score in reading descriptive text. However, what distinguishes each individual's reading comprehension affects the results of the reading test, because reading comprehension also influenced by several other factors such as environmental factors, sociological factors, and psychological factors.

B. Suggestion

After getting the result of the research on analysis students' learning style in reading descriptive text and their implication towards their achievement score which gives a positive result, the researcher makes an effort to give some suggestion, especially to English teacher, to students, to the other person who concern in teaching reading as well as other aspect of education. Here are few suggestion which can given by the researcher for the teacher.

First, the teacher needs to explore in knowing about students learning style and the factors. Besides that, The teacher must be aware of how the students learn their achievement especially in reading. It might have some differences between students' who learn with visual, auditory and kinesthetic. Next is the teacher should use proper method for teaching in order to make students interested to learning process, so it can encourage students to understand the material that is being taught by the teacher.
