

CHAPTER V

CLOSING

A. Conclusion

According to the research titled “Enhancing Reading Comprehension through Newsinlevels.com Website as an English Learning Media (Quasi Experimental Research at Serang City)”. The researcher conclude: Based on the results of data analysis, learning with the newsinlevels.com website isn’t effectively enhanced students' reading comprehension. But, several factors are the important for students it refers to the advantages including: a) Students can read stories, news, essays, and do language learning by using the features available. b) Students can also increase vocabulary through reading on the platform. By providing materials tailored to each student's language proficiency level, newsinlevels.com helps students in understanding the content gradually and effectively. The platform is helping to used in overall language skills through an interactive and engaging approach.

Reading comprehension used the treatment with the newsinlevels.com website in the tenth grade (10.3) of SMAN 3 Kota Serang experienced an increase but when compared to the control class also experienced an increase in scores, that means the class used the treatment did not improve. Therefore, the researcher concluded that the learning of reading comprehension by using newsinlevels.com website isn't effective to use as an English Learning Media and enhance reading comprehension. However, the results of this research have data limitations, namely data that is abnormal and inhomogeneous, but this research can be used as a reference and consideration for future research.

B. Suggestion

1. For Teacher

- a. Teachers are encouraged to try teaching methods using website newsinlevels.com as an English Learning Media during teaching and learning process for Reading Comprehension.
- b. Teachers can inform students about the latest articles on news and experiences from stories presented by the newsinlevels.com website so that students be more updated with crucial issues around them by reading news from articles or stories presented by the newsinlevels.com website.
- c. Teachers can use the newsinlevels.com website in making exercises because this newsinlevels.com website has a lot of features that can facilitate teachers in the learning and teaching process.

2. For Students

- a. Students know other ways to learn English for free, especially in reading, sometimes the reading available in the textbook is not interesting but the stories and news provided by the newsinlevels.com website can make them interested.
- b. Students know other ways to learn English easily because the access provided by the newsinlevels.com website is very easy and students can learn English easily.

3. For School

- a. School know other ways to learn English for free, especially in reading, sometimes the reading available in the textbook is not interesting but the stories and news provided by the newsinlevels.com website can make them interested.
- b. School know other ways to learn English easily because the access provided by the newsinlevels.com website is very easy and students can learn English easily.

4. For Future Research

For future research, researcher hope that there be future research related to the newsinlevels.com website. This is because no one has discussed this website further, even though this website is very useful in learning English. This website not only helps teachers in finding learning materials but also for students if they want to learn English self-taught.