

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

Based on research on An Analysis of The Students' Difficulties in Reading Section on TOEIC (A Descriptive Qualitative Research at SMK YP Fatahillah 1 Cilegon) researcher can make the following conclusions;

First, the difficulties faced by class XII students majoring in Industrial Mechanical Maintenance Engineering during the TOEIC reading test are lack of understanding of vocabulary and also lack of understanding of the material tested on the TOEIC reading test. During the test, students felt that they lacked language skills.

Second, students have a strategies as their learning material to get the best results in the future. With no sense of hopelessness, students make strategies so that they get the best grades. The strategies that students do for the future are evaluating their learning, learning vocabulary by memorizing, and also writing new vocabulary to be recalled.

B. Suggestion

The following suggestions are expected by researcher based on the above conclusions as follows:

1. For teacher, researcher hope that in the future they can provide learning resources for students, especially on the material tested on the TOEIC reaading test to help students understand the material that will be tested on the TOEIC reading test later.
2. For students, researcher hope that this research can provide an overview as a student learning strategy in preparing for the TOEIC test, and can motivate them when they want to take the TOEIC test.

3. For other researcher, this research is expected to be an important reference and information regarding the learning strategies of vocational high school students on TOEIC, so that researchers can explore further into its aspect.