

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSIONS AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusions

On the writer's research about the implementation of journal writing in developing students' recount text at the second grade of SMPN 2 Balaraja Kec. Balaraja – Tangerang, the writer concluded that :

1. Writing ability is the skills to express an idea, though, and feelings to other people in written symbols to make other people or readers understand the ideas conveyed. The students have to learn writing early to increase their skills in the language. In SMPN 2 Balaraja, students' writing ability is low because they have a lack of vocabulary, and they more interested in other skills as reading and speaking skills.
2. Students are difficult to mastery writing skill. They have difficulties in grammatical structure and vocabulary in English. The teacher must give their students the motivation to increase their writing. Teaching and learning

English process expected to exhibit students' competence to the discourse which covers the ability to produce particularly text orally in written within scopes of four language skills.

3. Writing journal is one example from recount text and a kind of learning activities which can develop students' writing ability. The writer recognizes if journal writing as an interesting learning activities that can make students explore their activity using new vocabularies.

The results of the students' writing are good. Because they could tell about their stories or their activity and show them on the paper in writing form. Perhaps, they never supposed that they can write their daily experience in English from before, almost very good.

B. Suggestion

In this section, the writer tried to give some suggestions to all elements of the school :

1. For the Principle

- a. Improving the educational quality of the school by using any programs for teacher and students.
- b. Encouraging teachers and students to keep their improved ability in every their spare time and along them to empower the materials of the progressive at schools' activities.

2. For the Teacher

- a. Improving students method quality will make the students more interested and situations more effective.
- b. Increasing teacher skill in use learning media can improve the learning process.
- c. Evaluation in learning activities is very important to do better. The students can reflect their activity and knows their mistakes and never repeat it any more.

- d. The techniques in teaching writing should be able to promote the students' ability in arranging and relating the ideas, choosing the words and using the tenses.
 - e. Giving more exercise to the students is quite important to control the students' progress in writing ability.
3. For the Students
- a. The students must follow teachers' instruction in the learning process.
 - b. The students Obey the rules of the school
 - c. The students must improve their writing skill competence and learning achievement.
4. For the next Researcher
- a. Finding some issues for research of teaching and learning method that suitable with the condition of a recent class.