CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESSTION

A. Conclusion

Based on the research finding which is presented in the previous chapter, the researcher would like to give conclusions as follows:

1. From the pre test and the post test in experimental class and control class, the reasearcher know that the students given treatment by virtual assistant get better scores and significant improvement in their pronunciation skill than the students that did not give the treatment.

2. Based on the result of the data about using virtual assistant application in teaching pronunciation, the ditribution score in experimental class is greater than control class.

B. Suggestion

According to the conclusions above the writer would give some suggestions as follows:

1. For the teacher

The teacher should develop English learning process in the classroom in order to make students interested and master the material. Using good material can improve the understanding of student to learn English especially in teaching pronunciation. The teachers must know strategies method, and media in teaching.

2. For the students

The students should always be active in learning process, the students must study hard for trying to listen to pay close attention to the speaker and the students have to be successful in mastering English and be consistent in listening. Because listening is one way of success communication.