

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGESTION

A. Conclusion

Based on the research of Teachers' Strategies in Teaching Speaking for Young Learners on the fifth grade at EvFiA Land School in Elementary School Serang Banten, this final chapter carries out the conclusion of this research:

1. The teacher use the rules of speak English and communication strategy in teaching speaking, the most dominant strategy is applied by the teacher.
2. The response of young learners to the strategies used by teachers in teaching speaking, almost all of them felt happy to communicate in English and students could understand English lessons from their teacher. Students also seem to like and enjoy during the delivery of lessons using communication strategies. Students look active and enthusiastic about speaking English during the teaching and learning process. Students also obey the rules of speaking English when in class and in the school environment.

B. Suggestions

Based on this study, researcher provide suggestions that are expected to improve teaching and learning process for speaking skills.

1. For the teacher

- a. The teacher as a facilitator for young learners to be able to create a pleasant atmosphere so that students are interested in learning English, especially learning to speak.
- b. The teacher must create communicative classrooms so that students can communicate with each other and function to develop speaking skills.
- c. Teacher as a facilitator for young learners not only in the classroom but when at rest is still accompanying, therefore; teacher to remain the best teacher.

2. For the students

- a. Opportunity for young learners to explore English language skills at this school, especially speaking skills.
- b. Young learners are always accompanied by their teacher to remain consistent in speaking English, therefore when the teacher leaves for a while; Young learners must remain obedient to speak English to their friends.

3. For the school

In this school, to teaching English, especially teaching to speak; some facilities are quite adequate and modern. But it doesn't hurt to explore and develop more extraordinary speaking skills towards young learners, the facilities at this school are further enhanced.