

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

In this chapters consist of conclusion and suggestion

A. Conclusion

Based on the results of the research and discussion above, the researcher concludes that: Researcher find language features that mostly used by student in narrative text are time sequence, verb (action verb, mental verb, and saying verb), simple past tense, dialogue, direct and indirect speech, descriptive language, specific characters, and adjective which form of noun phrase.

From the results of analysing the generic structure of narrative texts written by students, the students do not experience difficulties it can be seen from the students' writings that are in accordance with the generic structure of the narrative text. So the conclusion is that all students understand the material about narrative text, especially the language features of narrative text and from the results of the text written by students, it can be seen that almost all students do not experience any difficulties when writing narrative text.

B. Suggestion

Based on the conclusion above, the researcher can give suggestion that are expected to be made contribution to improve quality learning process in teaching narrative text.

1. The student
  - a. Student should pay attention to teacher when learning process narrative text.
  - b. Student should pay attention what features should be used when writing a narrative text.
2. The teacher
  - a. Teacher use an interesting method in teaching narrative text.
  - b. The teacher creates an interesting media in learning language features in narrative text.

3. The next researcher
  - a. It is hoped that further the researcher will continue this research using other research method such as mix methods or qualitative.