ABSTRACT

Vina Nabil Hazimah Bajuri. 171230133. 2022. Students Preception by Using The Zoom Application in Teaching Listening Skills (A Correlational Research at The Tenth Grade of SMAN 3 Serang City). Undergraduate Research Paper, Departement of English Education, Faculty of Education and Teacher Training, University of Islamic State “Sultan Maulana Hasanuddin” Banten. Advisers: Dr. Yuyu Heryatun, M.Pd. and Rohman, M.A

This theory used in this research is Daryanto's theory which says online learning is a learning system that can help learning activities by utilizing electronic media, and also according to Suardi Mansing who states that the use of e-learning in the current learning process is a must, in addition to following progress civilization, also because of the consideration of the effectiveness of learning. This research was conducted with research questions: 1) How is the implementation of the Zoom Application in Listening Learning Materials? 2) How Students preceptions Lessons through media intermediaries such as the Zoom App? This research method is to collect data logically and systematically, using qualitative methods. The research was conducted at SMAN 3 Serang City. The English teacher and class X students at SMAN 3 Serang City are the subjects of this report. Then, the collected data is used to answer the research points. The results showed that online learning using the zoom application was well received and followed by students, but there were still some perceived obstacles. However, the role of the teacher in the online learning process is also very important for student understanding, because the more the teacher explains or conveys the material well, the students will very easily understand the material presented. From these results it can be concluded that the application of the zoom application in learning listening skills is said to be able to support students' online learning processes well and can be understood.

Key words: Students' Perception, Online Learning, Implementation of Zoom Application
