B. SUGGESTIONS

At the end of this chapter, the researcher would like to recommend some suggestions. These suggestions are meant for better English teaching and learning, namely:

1. For English teachers
  - a. Teachers are advised to apply alphabet books in the teaching and learning process. They must create creative and innovative teaching and learning activities to avoid student boredom which makes them unable to understand the material and enjoy class activities well.
  - b. Teachers must understand students' skills because they have different learning styles to absorb information.
  - c. Teachers should use the right media to facilitate students in teaching and learning activities. This can attract student motivation.
  - d. Teachers should motivate students to practice reciting, so that English pronunciation becomes one of the interesting activities in learning English.

2. For Students

- a. The students must pay attention to the teacher during the teaching and learning process.
- b. The students have to find their own learning style to improve their understanding in learning English especially in pronunciation class.
- c. Students must be confident to present, give opinions or ask questions and pronounce a word in the teaching and learning process.

3. For other researchers

Based on the results of the study, the researcher suggests to other researchers that this research can be used as a reference for further research with different samples and skills
