

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

Based on the result of research about teacher's creativity at the boarding school using YouTube In Teaching English: Increasing Students' Attention as one of requirements for achieving the graduated Degree of Sarjana. There are two conclusion:

1. Teacher's creativity using YouTube in teaching English

The first conclusion of this research is about teacher's creativity in teaching English using YouTube videos. In this research, teacher creativity is seen from the creativity in creating and editing videos by adding some animations, such as moving images and writings about the material and then she uploading it to YouTube.

2. Students' attention in English learning using YouTube

Meanwhile, the second conclusion regarding the opinion of students is that there is teacher creativity in teaching English and how students' attention is during learning. The researcher interviewed 5 students from class II TMI. From the 5 questions that have been asked, the researcher concludes that most students answered that the teacher was indeed creative in teaching English through YouTube videos because the teacher made the video herself with several pictures and sentences that attracted students' attention, therefore the material taught could be understood very well and the classroom atmosphere became more fun and not boring. But sometimes there are some students who do not know the meaning of some of the vocabulary in the video. but this can be overcome, because after the teacher shows the YouTube video the teacher explains the contents of the video, including the meaning of vocabulary that students do not know yet and also related to the subject matter being studied.

B. Suggestion

Based on the results of research that has been done, the researcher realizes that there are still many limitations in this research. However, it is hope that it will provide useful contribution. The suggestions that the researcher includes the following:

1. Suggestion for Teacher

The author wants to give advice to teachers in the process of creating student learning creativity, teachers should know more about other supporting media besides using the YouTube application. This aims to make students interested in using different applications for learning so as to maximize the learning process. Students in the learning process should always pay attention and listen to explanations from teachers who teach in class so that they can gain maximum knowledge.

2. Suggestion for Students

Moreover, suggestions for students are it is hoped that students can always focus and pay attention to learning through YouTube videos that the teacher delivers, because it can increase students' understanding and insight, so students might be able to learn English from digital media that can be accessed anytime and everywhere.

3. Suggestion for other Researchers

Further researchers who will conduct similar research are suggested to compare learning before and after learning using YouTube. And researchers must understand the focus of the study to be studied by increasing the literature studies related to the focus of the study to be studied.
